

Charity's pyjamas boost

CHILDREN and staff at a Portsmouth nursery dressed up in their pyjamas for the day to raise money for charity.

About 25 little ones, aged from three months to four years, dressed up to raise funds for Rehab UK, the brain injury rehabilitation charity.

The youngsters also enjoyed some painting and sticking in the Tops Day Nursery at Queen Alexandra Hospital.

Staff were hoping to raise £100 from yesterday's event.

Nursery manager Diane Bunday said: 'It is a great cause, it helps people with brain injuries and those who have had strokes.

'The kids all had a great time, and so did us adults. It was a great, fun way to raise money for charity.'

The nursery will be holding an open evening on November 10.
